

To Whom it May Concern,

My family and I have been K-LOVE listeners for 3 years. We recently relocated to Oregon from Albuquerque, New Mexico and were very blessed to find K-LOVE in our new area also. As a mother of two small children, it is important for me to have something on the radio which I don't have to constantly censor by changing the channel in order to find something appropriate for them to hear. It was also a terrific element of continuity while moving my children across the country. My four year old daughter was quick to point out with delight "Mommy, they have our radio station here too!" It meant the world to all of us to have a national station like K-LOVE transmitting in the area. Now, we know that our friends and family far away can listen to the same broadcast we can.

With all of the inappropriate broadcasting going on in the world today, it is important to have an encouraging choice. I know our family would really miss the station, but I also feel that it is important for the community to have a positive influence. There is no shortage of stations out there transmitting songs with lyrics I don't want my two year old to learn, and certainly the commentary is often inappropriate for little ears. I know that I do not have to worry about what might be said next when I listen to K-LOVE.

Please do not allow Low Power FM radio stations to displace the station that I, and many in this country, love. How many stations exist on funding from their listeners? As a K-LOVE supporter, I feel that this in itself, speaks volumes to the need and desire for such a station.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Heather Zimny
